THE MENDOZA RAILWAY INAUGURATION.

IV.

Beneath the shade which the tall poplars that lined the splendid boulevard diffused, the train drew up. The crowd was tremendous; we should say from 8 to 10,000 people thronged the avenue. Everything was new to us; the sylvan appearance of the street, the dress and garb of the men, the preponderance of women whose dark flowing hair fell in long plaited tresses over their shoulders, the banquet table spread out under the trees. We stood amazed at the freshness and novelty of the scene. No other railway inauguration that we had ever attended produced such favorable impressions. Here we were in a new country, new people, new clime, new scenery. The day was splendid; it was neither Libyan heat nor Scythian cold; the air was fresh and balm, and but for the indescribable row, hub-bub and noise that prevailed, we should have gathered still greater inspiration. To our mind (and we are never astray in such matters) the merchants of Buenos Aires have possibly a higher interest in the inauguration of the Railway than even the Mendozinos themselves; but of this later on. We saw during our stay in Mendoza enough to give us new views on many matters, and redoubled confidence in the future of the country. The soldiers of the 12th of the Line were drawn up on the side of the Avenue and in front of the National College. The train passed under a triumphal arch erected by the Municipality and covered with inscriptions and flags. The streets of the city were similarly festooned, and coaches and cabs were flying about in every direction, reminding us much of the outside car movement in dear old Dublin. The Bishop of Mendoza played his part by blessing the locomotive; and then as many as could find room at the tables sat down to a grand lunch. Dr. Serpes, on behalf of the Municipality, delivered a lengthened address which was scattered amongst the people on fly sheets; and the following precis of which a kind friend and countryman in Mendoza most thoughfully supplied us with, in order to allow us the more time to drive about the city and see everything:—

Our talented fellow countryman, so long resident in Mendoza, has favored us with the following notes, etc.:—

Arriving at the Calle del Colegio Nacional it was easy to see that Mendoza was equal to the occasion, and that the whole of this industrious and fertile province had lent its best elements to do honor to the giant vanguard of progress and science. It is almost impossible to calculate the numbers of the brilliant and imposing concourse of people who were strolling beneath, seated or grouped around the pretty triumphal arches, but in round numbers I should judge 10,000 souls witnessed the arrival of the train.

The Mendocinos have acquired a name, I think unjustly, of being rather slow; but at least judging by the results of the feast on Saturday, to which I may add my experience of a three years' residence among them, you may rest assured they are hard workers and they work well. The Municipality, the new Governor, Colonel Ortega, the numerous foreign residents and the worthy Mendocinos of all ranks, strove to do honour to their beautiful city that has risen proudly from its ashes in the space of twenty three years. How many of the older inhabitants who escaped the terrible earthquake of 1861, replete with heartrending incidents and sad memories, felt delighted and surprised when the first engine entered, bringing in its train hope for the material progress of the Province, to say nothing of a considerable number of sympathizing friends from afar who came to share the pleasures of a day which will be stamped indelibly in the annals of their much loved city? How many of the younger generation felt joyful and buoyed up by the hope that that ugly old iron horse might aid them in their rightful aspirations, opening up to them a road to worlds to them unknown? All the High Life of Mendoza and the adjacent camp districts were present, and I think more than one of the visitors who arrived in the coaches will go back with a feeling of surprise and perhaps of tenderness when they remember the show of fashion and beauty that was presented to them when, descending from the train, they passed under the triumphal arches so tastefully arranged and adorned on every side by fresh, kind and pretty faces. The school-children of the town mustered to the number of 2000, and a select choir, chosen chiefly from the Ladies Normal School, sang sweetly the National Hymn when the engine Mendoza arrived under the central arch. The stern sex too were equal to the occasion. After the Bishop of Adrianopolis had performed the religious ceremonies usual on such occasions, Dr. Serpes, in the name of the Municipality, read a very eloquent discourse celebrating the arrival of the train. To give it in full Mr. Standard, translated as best I could, it would be necessary to ask you to publish a special edition of many columns, so I shall only strive to furnish you with the pith of it. It treated in the first place of the history of the Province of Mendoza from the year 1561, when at a distance of about a mile from this city a group of the then existing indigenous race called Guapes, headed by their Cacique Guaymallen, awaited with fear and amazement the coming of the Spaniards under General Don Pedro deCastillo who, attended by hundreds of armed men and accompanied by the impressive pomp of a religious train of priests, came to take possession of the fertile valley of Guantala. Dr. Serpes, treating of the influences of this conquest, admitted the benefit effected as a religious and civilizing agent, but recounted the the abuses in the Government of the country under the Spanish rule during which cruel and arbitrary acts predomnated. Passing from the arrival of this impossing force of men who came to conquer the country with the sword or arquebus in one hand and the crucifix in the other the discourse, after giving credit to the natives indigenous to those times of being intelligent and industrious agricultural labourers, glided gradually into the most interesting question of the moment, the arrival of the train? The discovery of steam as a motor power received its due historical mention, but some of the dates cited with regard to its application I believe to be erroneous, although justice was done to England as the country where the invention was first practically carried out. The advantages, social and commercial, which the railway will undoubtedly proportion to Mendoza were depicted in eloquent terms, and then the most impressive sentences of this splendid discourse adjured the Mendozinos to strike outfrom their vocabulary the word estrangero, reminding them that their territory was vast and fertile enough to support millions of inhabitants, that European immigration would not only supply strong arms but would also inculcate the spirit to work. The sublime ideas of the German, the practical common sense and stability of the English, the grand beautiful sentiment and refined taste of the Italians and Spaniards, the intelligent conceptions of the French with their versatility in perfecting practical ideas, would be brought to their doors by the railway and would all tend to secure the progress, prosperity and happiness of the Province. Of course the concluding paragraphs congratulated the Governor, the Municipality, the engineers and contractors of the line. The speech concluded, all the world and his wife sat down to a sumptuous lunch, served in a most excellent style by Don Benito Alvarez, and rendered agreeable by the presence of hundreds of fair smiling, pretty faces. The ruby of choice brands passed round, toasts were given and:

"Eyes looked love to eyes that spoke again
"And all went marry as the marriage bell"

At the reception and feast the Spanish, Italian, and French colonies were numerously and worthily represented, whilst the English and Germans were chiefly notable by their absence if I except the visitors who came from below.

In the evening a fair display of fireworks was given in the beautiful Plaza Independencia, to which all the world went. To-morrow Colonel Ortega has invited the Engineers of the line, the illustrious visitors and all the "elite" of the Society of Mendoza to a splendid banquet in the Quinta Agronomica.

On Monday, lovers of the "light fantastic" will have an opportunity of judging how the simpaticas Mendosinas comport themselves in the pleasure-inspiring dance; but of these feasts of reason and flow of soul I will tell you more in my next.

Time flies, my poor old rushlight is burning low, my head nods—and I will to bed.

TRAFALGAR SQUARE.

A telegram to the Nacion states that a diabolical attempt to blow up the splendid Nelson monument in Trafalgar square, London, has happily failed the packages of dynamite placed beneath the pillar not having exploded, and thus one of the finest statues in London has been saved from destruction. The following particulars of Trafalgar square may therefore afford much interest to many of our readers:

Trafalgar Square has been called by Sir. Robert Peel the finest site in Europe, but we doubt whether the most has been made of its undoubted advantages. If we take up our position in front of the National Gallery, which bounds it on the north, we command a view of Charing Cross, of Whitehall, with the Towers of Westminister rising in the distance, and of the new Thames Embankment approach, a street to which Northumberland House, one of the few ancient mansions of the nobility of which London could boast, fell a sacrifice in 1875.

Northumberland House was built by Henry Howard, Earl of Northampton, and in 1642 it became the property of Algernon Percy, Earl of Northumberland, whose lion crest, surmounting the gateway, formed one of the land-marks of London. In 1875, it was sold to the Board of Works for £497,000.

The Nelson Column occupies the centre of the square, and is flanked by statues of General Sir Charles Napier (by G. Adams,) and of General Havelock (by Behnes.) An equestrian statue of George IV. (by Chantrey,) occupies a pediment in the upper part of the square.

The Nelson Column is dedicated to one of England's greatest naval heroes, whose destruction of the combined French and Spanish fleets at Trafalgar (in 1805,) was accomplished at the sacrifice of his own life. The column designed by Railton, rises to a height of 145 feet. It is of Portland stone, with a bronze capital cast from French guns, surmounted by a statue of Nelson 17 feet in height (by E. H. Baily.) Four colossal lions, (by Sir Edwin Landseer,) occupy the salient pedestals at its base. The four bas-reliefs represent the battle of the Nile (by Woodington;) the bombardment of Copenhagen (by Ternouth;) the battle of St. Vincent (by Watson;) and the death of Nelson (by Carew.) The monument cost above £50,000, most of which was raised by public subscription.

Amongst the buildings surrounding the Square, that of the National Gallery is the most extensive. It was erected in 1832-38, by W. Wilkins, and is certainly undeserving so fine a position.

St. Martin's Church, in the north-eastern corner of the square, with its fine portico and well-proportioned Tower, is looked upon as Gibbs' masterpiece, and was built 1721-26. The portico and well-proportioned tower are much admired. Amongst the persons buried in this church were Dobson, the painter; Roubiliac, the sculptor; Nell Gwynne, the mistress of Charles II, and Jack Sheppard, the notorious thief.

The Royal College of Physicians, on the opposite side of the square, with a fine portico towards Pall Mall East, was built by Smirke, and opened in 1835. It contains a few potraits and busts of celebrated medical men.

The College was founded in 1518, by Linacre, physician to Henry VIII., and authorised by letters patent to grant certificates to medical practitioners, a privilege still exercised. Persons desirous of becoming members or licentiates of the college are obliged to pass an examination. The "Fellows" are the governing body, and recruit themselves from amongst the members.

Charing Cross, the triangular space between Trafalgar-square and Whitehall, is named after a village, Charing, which has long since disappeared. In it stood the last of the crosses erected by Edward I. to mark the spot where the body of his Queen, Eleanor, was rested on its way to Westminster Abbey.

A reproduction of this Cross has been placed in front of Charing cross station.

The equestrian statue of Charles I. (by Hubert Le Soeur) was cast in 1633, but sold by Parliament to a brazier to be broken up. It was preserved, however, and set up after the Restoration, in 1676, at the expense of the Crown. It occupies the spot where the "Regicides," who had voted for the king's execution, were cruelly tortured to death.

Morley's Hotel, one of the oldest and most respectable in London, is on one side of the square. It used to be the head quarters of River Plate men in London.

The Valparaiso's Mails.

London, May 10th.

In the House of Lords yesterday, Lord Balfour moved the second reading of the measure known as the Shooting Bill, which on a division was rejected by 78 votes against 48.

In the House of Commons, at the morning sitting, the Municipal Election Bill was read a second time without a division, and was referred to a Grand Committee by a majority of 206 against 149. A similar course was followed with respect to the Evidence in Criminal Cases Bill by 179 to 135. At the evening sitting the House was at once counted out.

Our Correspondent at Souakim telegraphs that in consequence of reports that an attack was to be made last night, boats with Gatlings had been sent to protect the causeway. The guns on the Briton and Orontes were cleared for action.

In the German Parliament yesterday the debate was resumed on the second reading of the Bill prolonging the law against the Socialists. Prince Bismarck was among the speakers. He gave an account of the negotiations which had taken place between Germany and the Powers, with the view of holding a Conference to concert measures against the Socialists. Ultimately the debate was again adjourned.

Our Paris Correspondent announces the death of Prince Stourdza formerly Hospodar of Moldavia. He was in his 90th year.

A telegram from our Montreal Correspondent gives us some additional particulars respecting the loss of the State of Florida steamer. A fatal mistake in judgment was, it is said, made by the chief engineer. He sent the vessel at full speed thinking to keep her afloat by working the pumps. The whole, where she was stove in was, however, so large that the water rushed in with enormous volume. The steamer was driven at such speed that it was almost impossible to lower the boats, and they dashed through the water so fast when launched that even the sailors were afraid to enter them. Had the vessel been held motionless she would have remained afloat, it is said, ten minutes longer.

We learn from Durban that a rising has taken place in Zululand, and that the British Resident has asked for assistance. The Reserve is considered unsafe, and the aspect of affairs is said to be threatening.

A meeting of the Conservative members of the House of Commons was held yesterday at the Carlton Club, to consider the course to be taken by the party, more particularly in the approaching debate on the vote of censure and the Franchise Bill. Sir Stafford Northcote presided.

Yesterday a meeting of electors of London was held in the Guildhall to take into consideration the London Government Bill. The Lord Mayor presided. Mr. Lionel Cohen moved, and Mr. Hubbard, M.P., seconded, a resolution condemnatory of the Bill, to which an amendment was moved by Mr. Lewis Emanuel and seconded by Mr Keeble in its favour. The meeting, which was of an uproarious character, refused a hearing to the mover and seconder of the amendment, which was rejected, and the resolution carried by a large majority.

We regret to announce the death of the Rev. C. O. Goodford, Provost of Eton College, which took place yesterday morning as the result of a long and severe illness. Dr. Goodford, who was in his seventy-second year, has held the office of Provost of Eton since 1862.

Yesterday afternoon the General Hospital at Peterborough was partially destroyed by fire. The inmates, more than a hundred in number were got out of the burning building without mishap, the work of rescue being carried out with care as well as with expedition.

A furhter relapse of 1½ to 7½ dollars in Erie, Philadelphia, and Reading and Wabash securities was one of the principal features in the stock market yesterday. Indian Rupee 4½ per Cent. Paper rose as much as 1¼ p.c., to 84¼, ⅜ but British Government stocks declined. Consols fell 101½, ⅜ for money, and to 101⅝, ½ for the account. Home and Indian railway stocks further rose 2 to 6 per cent. The demand was however, less. Home railway Ordinary and deferred stocks, excepting Brighton, closed easier. Egyptian and most other foreign securities advanced ⅛ to ½ p.c. Mexican Railway Ordinary fell 1 p. c. Anglo-American telegraph stocks improved. The Bank of England received 125,000*l.* in gold from abroad. Discount rates were stiffer.

GREAT BANK FAILURE.

Since the failure of the Glasgow Bank we have had no bank failure to equal in magnitude the suspension of the Oriental Bank, London, which we now report. The Times gives the following respecting this stupendous financial disaster:—

The announcement which appeared in this column this morning to the effect that the directors of the Oriental Bank Corporation had decided to suspend payment did not create much surprise in financial circles, nor was the course of business generally interfered with, except in the silver market, though some inconvenience arose from the non-payment of the acceptances of the bank which matured to-day and from the dishonouring of the bank's other obligations payable on demand. Telegrams from Calcutta, Bombay, and Hongkong show that the effect of the disaster had there, as well as here, been to a large extent discounted. In fact, the heavy fall in the shares which was only a short time since reported in this column warned the other Indian banks that they should strengthen their position, which they accordingly did, and we understand that no apprehension is felt that they will have to encounter any serious difficulties. One circumstance which will to some extent compensate the existing Indian banks for the severe shock which the failure of the Oriental Bank must of necessity give to Eastern trade is that the very severe competition which they have one and all had to contend with for many years past will be lessened, while the good business of which the Oriental possessed a very fair share will now probably be divided among those which may show themselves entitled to claim it. The decline in the credit and prestige of the Oriental Bank has notoriously been uninterrupted since the divulgence of the disastrous losses which it had sustained in 1878 and 1879, by which the whole of the reserve fund of, in round figures, £500,000 was swept away.

The annual reports of the Corporation shew that the reserve fund, exclusive of an insurance fund of £50,000, was raised to £450,000 by the transfer of £6,000 from the profits of 1872, and stood at that figure for a few years. The report for 1877 stated, however, that the directors had felt compelled to recognize and take into account losses at various branches to a most unusual extent, and they proposed to make up this deficiency by the withdrawal of £175,000 from the reserve fund, thus reducing it to £325,000 or, deducting the insurance fund of £50,000, £275,000. With regard to the following year, 1878, the directors, after referring to the depression of trade and the commercial crisis, arising to a large extent out of the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank, which had been experienced during the second half of the year, stated that they had sustained losses which, with the provision for doubtful debts, exceeded the unappropriated earnings by £120,130. Taking also into account the depreciation of their public securities held in London and at the different branches, they proposed to write off £185,567 from the reserve fund, while they had also to announce the heavy depreciation of £91,030 on £318,806 in Chilian Government bonds. While the reserve and insurance funds combined had stood at £325,000 at the commencement of that year, the writing off of as much as £11,328 for the above purposes thus reduced that sum to but £13,672, at which it has since stood. In other words, the reserve and insurance funds, which amounted together to £500,000 in the accounts for 1876, have been drawn upon to the extent of £486,328. The business of the bank in the East, it is well known, has very much diminished during the last few years, and we believe we are right in saying that the stoppage has been due more to the steady withdrawals of deposits at the branches than to any sudden loss of confidence on this side. By far the greater portion of the Bank's money was being employed in the East, and with the funds disappearing abroad at the rate of between one and two hundred thousand pounds per month it is not surprising that the directors in London should have decided to take the step which they did yesterday. They have continued to hope against hope, until at length they could no longer fight against the conviction that in the circumstances it was idle to cherish the idea that the public would subscribe capital with which to put the Bank on a sounder basis. Branches had been lopped away, business had been curtailed in all directions, and expenses had been reduced; but all has been of no avail to alter the condition of the Bank's affairs in Ceylon and Mauritius. It is in these islands, especially the former, in which the chief trouble will be felt, if, as we believe to be the case, several important firms have for years past been trading with the assistance of the Oriental Bank.

As to the cause of this catastrophe, there can be no doubt that the great prestige of the bank as a dividend-earning institution had for a long time rested upon an unsound basis. The large profits earned in past years could only be secured by running undue risks. The losses sustained have, as the published balance-sheets, from which we have given extracts, show remained unacknowledged from year to year, until, as we are justified in assuming, the case of the City of Glasgow Bank alarmed the directors of the Oriental, and showed them the danger of the position they had imperceptibly come to occupy. Messrs. Freshfield are the solicitors, and the books are in the hands of Messrs. Quilter, Ball and Co., who are doing all in their power to protect the interests alike of the creditors and of the unfortunate shareholders, many of whom are half-pay Indian officers and widows, who with more steadfastness than discretion, have refused to leave an obviously sinking ship. The deposits at present are, we believe, about one million and a half less than the total published in the last balance-sheet. At this early stage it is impossible to say with even an approximation to accuracy how much in the pound there will be for the creditors; but we are advised that 17s. 6d. may be pretty confidently expected, which will sweep away the whole of the capital and the reserve liability. Reports have reached us that projects are on foot for constructing a company with sufficient capital to take over the bank's liquid assets, and a prospectus has been already drafted with this object at the instigation of some of the leading shareholders, though so far, however, nothing of the sort is, or has been, entertained by the board. It is proposed that the company referred to should be called the "New Oriental Bank, Limited," and that the capital should be £2,000,000 in 200,000 shares of £10 each. Though it is not intended that the proposed bank should relieve the shareholders of the old corporation of their liability, the promoters believe that economy in liquidation may be obtained by its means.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

May 2nd.

This steamer leaves Liverpool to-morrow, when the French mail will also be despatched; I shall, therefore, reserve details for the supplementary on Monday. On the chance of this arriving first, I may say that politically the outlook at home and abroad is improving. All the Powers have signified their acceptance of the invitation of the Government of Great Britain to held a Conference. France makes certain conditions, to be discussed previously in a friendly way between the two Governments. No decision has yet been come to as to the place where the Conference is to be held. It is supposed it will be either at London or Constantinople. The subjects to be discussed at the Conference are limited to that of the financial position of Egypt.

In Egypt itself the position is much the same, except that the Arabs, as far as we can gather from the telegrams received, are in possession of the town of Berber, if not of the citadel. The English Consul, Mr. Cuzzi, has left Berber, and all communication with Khartoum is cut off. From the latter place we have dates to the 21st of April, and they appear to be of a cheering character, since we are told they are all safe there, and that "trade will be carried on even if Khartoum is taken." It is added, "we shall trade with the Mahdi's men." Who, "we" may be is a matter of conjecture, bu from the context it may be concluded that "we" mean Greek merchants. There is an immense amount of humbug in this Egyptian question, into which both Conservatives and Liberals have rushed blindfolded and in utter ignorance of the country.

Sir George Campbell, speaking in the House of Commons the other night, suggested that General Gordon should be "shut up"—in an asylum understood. General Gordon's despatches are published in the papers of this morning, and were laid on the table of the House last night.

The most serious little bit of foreign intelligence is, that diplomatic relations between France and Morocco have been, or are about to be, broken off. The French Minister was to leave Tangiers for Paris yesterday. Spain has evidently been trying to work with the English Government against France, but Mr. Gladstone has prudently declined the risk of another Egyptian mess in Morocco. Spain, therefore, threatens to make terms with France.

The Marquis Tseng, the Chinese Ambassador at Paris, is recalled, and hopes are entertained that this means a disposition, on the part of the Chinese Government to improve its relations with France.

In regard to the aspect of foreign affairs generally, and to the Egyptian question in particular, it may be remembered that the British invitation to hold a Conference was accepted by Austria by return of post. It was quickly followed by Berlin and Rome, and even Russia was prompt in tossing condescendingly her indifferent assent. Under these circumstances France, notwithstanding the recent tall talk of her press, had to make a virtue of necessity. The final assent of all the Powers was triumphantly announced by Mr. Gladstone last night in answer to Sir Stafford Northcote, who was, perhaps, not prepared for so explicit a reply.

On home questions, such as the Franchise Bill, the Opposition appears to be collapsing. It is just as you were told some time since. There is a terror of prevalent and growing opinion reaching far beyond the Reform Bills, which bridles the Opposition and spurs the Government. For instance, you remember how curtly, if not pertly, Mr. Gladstone at the beginning of the session affected to close the mouths of Mr. Parnell and his followers, in regard to modification of the Irish Land Act, and particularly in respect to the purchase clauses. Well, when the Irish party brought forward this week a motion for the alteration of those clauses, Mr. Trevelyan had not only to admit the necessity of the alterations, but announced that a bill had been prepared by the Government, and would be introduced at once. The Government has been frightened by Mr. Broadhurst's outspoken abuse of the landowners, when he was discussing the Cattle Bill, and by the Report just published, of the Royal Commission on the condition of the Highland Crofters. As the Pall-Mall Gazette, in its little shouting way, declared in a moment the report and its recommendations were, in spite of Mr. Herbert Spencer's remonstrances, strongly Socialistic. The cue of both Liberals and Conservatives will now be to hurry forward "purchase clauses" and legislative measures for the subdivision of the land. It is too late. The feelings of Mr. Gladstone, like those of all good and moderate men, were much outraged at Mr. George's demand for the nationalisation of the land without compensation to the nominal owners. The Irish landlords and landladies, some of whom have been reduced almost to beggary by Mr. Gladstone's pottering legislation in Ireland, are now agitating for compensation on the principle openly espoused by him in regard to the land nationalisation question; and their claims are very logical and will be very awkward to answer.

The House of Commons during the week has had two amusing sittings. As the Daily Telegraph says, our boyish legislators who find time to dine and smoke when really great questions are debated, assembled in full force and listened in breathless silence like 'three year old children' to Sir William Harcourt explaining in a serio-comic manner how it was that he had been sued in the Oxford County Court for 15 shillings value of flowers and nosegays supplied, as he said, not for electioneering purposes, but for the private delectation of himself and family, and how the servant girl had swept away the bill that had been sent in, and how it had been put away in a vase on the mantelpiece and forgotten, and so on. The House roared. Another amusing debate was on Sir Lyon Playfair's motion to legalise crematoria. The extremes of vulgar prejudice and of agnostic indifference were well represented by Colonel King-Harman, who accused scientific men of using this question of cremation to foist their opinions on the public, and by Mr Labouchere who said very properly that the question was one that concerned the living not the dead, that it was a sanitary question and for his part it did not matter to him whether he was buried or burnt, dissected or anathematized.

Sir William Harcourt, the merry-andrew of the company, was put up to oppose the motion on the part of the Government, or shall we say Mr Gladstone. For such is the pureindedness of our beloved premier that, whereas on political questions he has no strong convictions one way or the other, on all pungent and racy subjects such as contagious diseases, deceased wives' sisters and cremation he feels deeply. Sir William Harcourt trotted out the small objections about difficulties in detecting crim—poisoning and such like—and he was instructed to say that people's sentiments "prejudices if you will" must be taken into account by practical statesmanship; but everyone could see that Sir William, with his tongue in his check, was alluding to the Resurrection; a dogma sufficiently obstruse in regard to embalmed bodies and well-preserved bones, and less comprehensible to the vulgar when reduced to a question of ashes.

The University of Oxford has also been stirred up by the signs and portents around us. The Oxford Convocation has absolutely agreed by a majority of 4 to 3 to admit women to the honour of examinations in Modern History, Physical Science and Mathematics. The Conservative papers are quite angry and console themselves in the idea that after all that does not settle the question, and that we can still do as we like with our own and thrash our wives as our fathers did before us; besides, mathematics and modern history are not physiology. The purity of she domestic hearth may yet be preserved.

There are two other questions of the week I reserve—Music and Sporting. On the latter subject I am no authority, but there are some details I can gather in connection with the "Two Thousand Guineas" won by Scotfree which will be interesting to some of your readers.

I forgot to apologise for mixing up in a late letter Cincinnati with Pittsburgh. The Times misled me. However, a good blunder is better than a bad joke.

REPORT UPON THE UNIFICATION OF LONGITUDES AND A UNIVERSAL TIME.

To His Excellency the Minister of Public Instruction,
Dr. Eduardo Wilde.

The resolutions of the International Geodetic Conference, passed at their triennial session in Rome in October last, and regarding which H.E. has called for my opinion, are nine in number. Those which have an immediate practical or scientific bearing refer:

1—To the importance of the general adoption of a cosmopolitan meridian for the designation of longitudes,—to the selection of such meridian,—and to the mode of counting the longitudes themselves.

2—To the importance of introducing a universal system for the designation of time, in addition to the local hour,—to the selection of such a system,—and the mode of counting.

3—To incidental expressions of opinion upon two other subjects of scientific bearing and international importance.

Those which declare the importance of the general adoption of a single prime meridian, and of a single system for indicating absolute time throughout the world are not likely to fail of the approval of any educated and thoughtful man. Nor yet is that which expresses approbation of the decimal division of the quadrant for large numerical operations, and the desirability that the corresponding tables should be multiplied and perfected; but abstains, for reasons of practical expediency, from making any present recommendation.

The 3rd resolution designates the meridian of Greenwich as that which it is most desirable to adopt. This is for the reasons that it is the one by far most generally used, since it is employed by much more than half the vessels afloat;—that it fulfils all scientific requisites; and that it is probably the only one which could secure universal acceptance. Its present employment as the prime meridian by all navigators who employ the British, the American or the Prussian Nautical Almanacs, as well as by most of the mariners of Holland, Scandinavia and Russia, point to its selection under any circumstances. All English and American topographical and hydrographical charts, the hydrographic charts published by the Italian Government, and all the charts of the Baltic and North seas published by the German Hydrographical Office, are now referred to this meridian. Did any doubt exist as to its adoption, this would be removed by the unanimous vote of the Conference, composed of delegates from thirteen nations, who not only represented the views of their respective Governments but also the public opinion in their countries where for the most part they are themselves leaders. No real opposition to it existed except in France, and this was gracefully and courteously waived.

The fourth resolution appears to me much more questionable, although only three votes seem to have been cast against it in the Conference. After providing that longitudes should be counted in only one direction,—that is to say, from 0 h to 24 h,—a provision sure to receive the approval of every scientific man;—it likewise declares that the numeration should be from West to East, a decision to which I am opposed upon purely scientific grounds.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Fires generally go in triplets. The mild blaze in Mr Julian Martinez's house in Calle Florida on Monday was followed yesterday by a big one in Mr. Otto's furniture shop in Calle Maipu, opposite the Rentas Office. The fire was discovered about 11½ p.m., and the dense clouds of black smoke soon brought all the idlers in town to the spot, and even well-dressed men of business were to be seen rushing to the scene of action, to enjoy the excitement. The Bomberos and troops were soon on the ground, and hundreds of people, many of them citizens of credit and renown, helped them to fight the flames, which were vanquished about 2 o'clock. Much of the valuable furniture was carried into the street and saved. The fire was caused by the bursting of a boiler in the workshop at the back of the premises. Where is the third fire to be?

The dynamite explosion in Trafalgar Square was not so disastrous as feared. The Nelson Monument escaped intact, owing to the charge of dynamite placed under it missing fire. Government has offered £10,000 reward for the arrest of the miscreants, and, no doubt, an informer will be found. Even if they are caught, it is not a hanging matter; which is a vast pity.

Mr. Hugh Duggan's funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended, not only by friends of the family in town but by a large number of friends from all parts of the country districts. Deceased was beloved and respected by all who knew him. His medical attendant, Dr. Colbourn, requests us to correct the statement that he died from disease of the heart, since he suffered from no affection of the heart whatever; he died from a sudden attack of internal hemorrhage.

At the Recoleta yesterday afternoon there was an unusual crowd of mourners. Besides the funeral of Mr. Hugh Duggan that of Mr. Viera, the young Professor, also took place and was attended not only by the friends of deceased but by several hundreds of the school boys from his district.

The Central gun club held its last meeting at Mr. James Casey's estancia Chacabuco. Mr. William Casey won the prize.

There was no performance at the Colon Theatre last night, owing to Madlle Theodorini being still unwell. Aida is announced for to-morrow night.

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract" and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.
After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Cedulas A	101
Cedulas E	89½
Cedulas F	85½
National Bank Shares	154¾
Scrip	73

The market ruled exceedingly dull this morning, and the weather appeared to exert a depressing influence on the speculation. The bears in the share market had the upper hand during official hours, but they did not seize the opportunity to sell freely for the end of the month. They are operating with admirable prudence and are evidently aware of the power of the bulls. Operations were limited owing to the absence of the bulls and the great caution of the bears. Nothing was done for cash, and 400 only were sold for the end of the month at 155½-155 and 154¾, closing rate. Weak as the market appeared at the surface, it is very strong in reality, and the market closing rate of official hours was merely normal. Immediately after the ring 500 were sold at 155. Two hundred Certificates were sold cash at 73½-73; the Scrip ruled firm.

Cedulas were also very dull this morning. A few thousand Series A changed hands for cash at 100¾ and 101, Series E at 89½ and F at 85½-½. No operations were effected for the end of the month. The Series E is being steadily remitted to Europe; private parties are remitting thousands, and the stock is moving off the market very fast. Speculation, meantime, is dead, and there are few prospects of any activity in Cedulas this month. All the activity of the market is now centred in the speculation in National Bank Shares.

The exchange market is at a stand-still; rates shew no alteration. A few operations on Montevideo reported at 2⅝-½.

The money market is no longer quite so easy as last month; the situation, in fact, shews tightness since yesterday, and advances in stocks are no longer secured with the former facility on stocks. This pressure will probably last a few days only, when the large funds taken out of the banks will flow back to their vaults.

The bulls were out of the share market this morning, and this accounted for the dullness of the speculation during official hours. If the bulls keep aloof the speculation will continue dull during the fortnight, as the bears appear to have lost courage and will not operate freely for the end of the month.

A morning colleague announces the sale of 24 leagues of land in the vicinity of Bahia Blanca at the rate of $350,000 % per league; broker, Mat. Torres; Buyer, a foreign firm. Nobody in the market appears to know anything of this large business and landbrokers were not aware that such a large area of land was offering in that vicinity. Should the news be true the operation is one of the largest in land near Bahia Blanca.

There was a rush this morning to see the fire in Calle Maipu; the great volume of smoke and the close crowd led all to suppose that the conflagration was one of great proportions. The fire-men soon over-came the fire, but nearly all Mr. Otto's furniture was consumed. The Water Works' machinery put on dull pressure and supplied the pumps with sufficient water.

The R.M.S. Tagus left Rio on Saturday; she is expected in port.

A colleague states that rumours are floating in the market with regard to difficulties in floating the Cordoba loan in London, and attributes the same to the plethora of Argentine loans at present offering in the great money market of the world.

The state banks discounted yesterday half-a-million dollars; the bulk of business was done by the Provincial Bank.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—

Cedulas—
For cash A 13,600 at 101-100¾-101
For cash E 12,800 at 89½
For cash F 19,300 at 85½-½
Sales, 45,700
National Bank Shares—
For June 30th 400 at 155½-155-154¾
National Bank Certificates, 40 o/o paid—
For cash 200 at $73½-73

The Provincial Government has submitted the following budget for 1885 to the Legislature:—

Expenditure—

	$ m/n.
Government	5,674,774 32
Banks and railways	3,338,117
Municipalities	1,125,833
School-boards	1,352,831 85
	11,491,536 17

Ways and Means—

	$ m/n.
Taxes, sale of lands etc	5,679,666 06
Banks, railways, telegraphs, etc.	3,238,117
Municipal revenue	1,250,349
School Boards	1,352,831 85
	11,620,964 51

The above figures shew that the budget is growing quite as fast as the province, and that if progress yields greater revenue it also breeds greater wants.

The National Government has resolved to accept the telegraphic convention for charges between the Argentine Republic and the Banda Oriental, on the following basis:—10 cents per word for first ten words, and 5 cents for the subsequent ones, including address and signature.

Mr Fernando sold the following sites last Sunday at his auction in La Plata:—

Section 15th, manzana XX, lot H, for 9,000, buyer B Ader.

Section 15th. manzana XX, lot F, for 9,000, buyer R Carcano.

Section 15th, manzana XX, lots E D C B, for 32,700, buyer Santiago Carlevari.

Section 15th, manzana XX, lots A M L K, for 30,100, buyer Santiago Carlevari.

Section 15th, manzana NN, lot 6, for 34,500, buyer B Mendez Gonzalez.

Section 16th, manzana EE, lot 4, for 13,500, buyer Jacinto F del Campo.

Section 16th, manzanas 1, 10, 12, 14, 16, 23 and 24, for 84,000, buyer Emilio R Fernandez.

Section 16th, manzana M, for 9,000, buyer Angel Tassara.

Section 3rd, manzana S, lots 1, 2, 6 and 8, for 55,000, buyer Miguel Saucet.

Section 14th, manzana RR, lot 19, for 22,500, buyer J J Lanusse, per order.

Section 14th, manzana D, lot 48, for 14,000, buyer Eduardo Rozas.

Total $347,000 %.

The cargo of Cardiff coal per steamer Scotia is reported sold at $10½ cash.

Mr Schneidewind, managing engineer of the Tucuman extension works, was expected in town to-day.

Three thousand head of cattle in the South were sold to-day at 160 $% per head 'al corte.' These animals have been bought for stocking an estancia on the outside camps.

A cargo of Cadiz salt has been sold to arrive at 9 rls.

The article in to-day's Standard on the [illegible] exchange market by Mercator [illegible] thereto were the sub[illegible] the reply [illegible]ject of great comment in the market.

Exch[illegible]nge was done to-day and yesterday in the open market for the mail of 7th; brokers say that bills are scarce and that at the Provincial Bank applications for bills have to be sent up to the President of the Bank for approval before granted, which is a new rule in the market.

We hear that one of the most powerful Syndicates ever formed in this market has now taken up the National Bank Shares, and that they are prepared with money to sweep the market clean of shares, as the Bank is doing such a splendid business that when the half year's accounts are made out, it will be seen that the shares represent a far higher value than their present market figure.

The Certificates of National Bank Shares seem to be well held, as we noticed in the Bank to-day a crowd paying up the new call of 10 o/o two days before the call matured. We note that some of the most influential men in this market are holders of these Certificates and paying up their calls.

Mr. Trimmer who has arrived out from England was welcomed on 'Change. Mr. Cleminson C.E., is expected up in the morning from Montevideo with his family.

The Sola work shops of the Great Southern Railway are now finished. We hope in a few days to be able to give our readers a description of these splendid works.

We learn on good authority that 2000 workmen with their families have been engaged in Europe for the Ensenada and La Plata canal works, and they may soon be expected out.

Two hundred and seventy certificates of the National Bank were sold during afterhours at 72 and 72½.

Two cargoes of Glasgow coal are reported sold to arrive at 10⅝. Part of a cargo of nut coal has been sold in Barracas at 10⅝ also. The coal market is firm.

About 2,000 National Bank shares were sold during afterhours; the market was weak and fluctuated between 154 and 155; the stock closed at 154½, between buyers and sellers, for the end of the month. Ten thousand Series E. were sold at 89½. The market wore a dull and heavy aspect in the evening, and this feeling leads many to suppose a falling tendency which is only apparent.

The Santiago del Estero branch of the Tucuman Railway, it is rumoured, will not be inaugurated next month. It appears that the Tucuman Railway has not sufficient rolling-stock to forward all the materials necessary for the many extensions of this great trunk line. Owing to the same deficiency in the Andine Railway the line will not be opened to the public for an indefinite period. These unfortunate circumstances are much to be deplored.

Advices from Bahia Blanca state that hands are very scarce. Bricklayers and labourers can find immediate occupation at high wages at the present moment, as thousands of new buildings are in course of construction. Labour in Bahia Blanca is so dear that 'peones' and others need only work up to breakfast hour, as they earn enough to allow them the pleasures of billiard-playing and gambling the remainder of the day. Tradesmen are obliged to take off their hats to the cart-men and to pay them whatever they choose to ask; the railway, no doubt, is removing many of these difficulties, but Bahia Blanca wants several thousand Italians to meet the great demands of the moment.

Mr. Vallée, the Diligence King, intends starting a new service and route from Poitagué, or Victorica, to Villa Mercedes on the Andine Railway. It is remarkable how these means of communication are spreading over the Pampa; the diligence is receding before the locomotive, and new routes are now laid right through the National territories. Diligences now run from Bahia Blanca to Patagones, from General Acha to Victorica and soon the latter settlement will be connected with Villa Mercedes in San Luis.

The Provincial Government should endeavour to form new settlements along the railway lines of the Province. On former occasions all had opportunity to applaud the expropriation policy of the Government to sell lands in small lots to farmers in the vicinity of camp towns. The Government should now begin the expropriation of all lands near railway stations to start colonies. This would give the very best results and much increase the value of lands and the traffic on the railways. Of late there have been some rumors in the market that the Government had intentions of studying the expediency of this measure.

Ten thousand quintals of jerked beef from the great Casa Blanca saladero are reported sold at 43 rls. fts., payable in this city. The Casa Blanca saladero has slaughtered about 100,000 head of cattle this season, more than all the B. Aires saladeros together.

Telegrams from the valley of the Rio Negro announce the completion and signal success of the Fuerte Roca canal, near the meeting of the waters of the Limay and Neuquen. This is great news for the Roca settlement, and engineer Furque deserves a gold medal for his enterprise and successful efforts. The Government has forwarded two families more to the colony which before long will become the most important settlement in the valley. The colonists can rely on a ready market for their produce in Roca, and the surplus can be forwarded either to Chile or to the Eastern parts of the valley. The Government should also devote some attention to the colonies in Conesa and in the Potrero Cerrado, both on the right bank of the river. This valley should be the granary of South America, and with a little enterprise and some expense the Government might stud it with colonies.

Advices from the Mount report a dull stock market. The Unified stock rose yesterday ½ and closed firm with buyers at 55⅞. The Deuda Amortizable was also firmer, but no operations were reported. The Adicionales stock rose ½. Last telegrams from London quote Unified Uruguayans at 57½ for cash. Shares of the Progreso Oriental rose ½. The money market rules easier and rates are looking downwards at last; the two river steamers brought down $170,000 in specie. In the exchange market there are few drawers; sterling rules scarce. Some operations reported at 51½ and 51⅝, closing weak at this latter rate. Exchange on Rio Janeiro weak at 12:000. The rate on B. Aires has fallen; operations began at 2½, fell to 2 o/o, and something was rumored done at even lower quotations.—The produce market rules active; several hundred bales of wool sold at 3½ and several thousand hides.

The new steamer Provence of the Transports Maritimes will be ready towards the end of July. She is reported to be a magnificent and very fast steamer. She has been in course of construction for a very long time. It is to be hoped that she will combine great speed with comfortable accommodation. The Messageries Maritimes, it is rumored, will put a very fast boat on their River Plate route. Italian competition is making a decided effect.

No less than eleven steamers entered Rosario yesterday, according to telegrams received. This figure shews how Rosario is going ahead, and none need wonder if the Capital of Rosario writes as follows:—"The activity in the market is assuming [illegible] extraordinary proportions and we may [illegible] rest assured that in a few years to come [illegible] Rosario will be the first and most important port in the Republic." When Rosario sees the completion of the port works ordered by the National Government we may look forward to a new era of prosperity not only for the town but for the whole Province of Santa Fé.

The returns of the Rosario Custom House for May amounted to $358,000, as follows:—

Import dues	$315,356.85
Export dues	43,082.93
	$358,439.78

The London papers to hand give the following:—

"The 43rd report of the Directors of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company states that the profit on the working account of 1883 is £234,568. The underwriting account, which has been debited with £18,163 expenses occasioned by the fire on board the Cotopaxi, shows a credit balance of £166,226, of which £45,000 has been transferred to the credit of profit and loss account, leaving £121,226 to be carried forward. The profit and loss account having been debited with £170,009 for depreciation, boiler replacement, and special repairs, shows, with the amount brought forward (less debits applicable to previous years), a total available balance of £106,039, out of which the directors have declared a dividend of £1 15s. per share which absorbs £103,398 and leaves £2,641 to be carried forward. The capital was, on the 21st. of November last, reduced from £1772,550 to £1,477,126 by the repayment of £5 per share to the proprietors. The sanction of the Court of Chancery was duly obtained for this reduction, which had been previously passed and confirmed at special meetings of the propietors, as required by the company's Act of Parliament."

The Times of the 10th ult. gives the following:—

"The value of money continues gradually to rise, some of the bill brokers having to-day turned out three months' bank bills at a shade under 1⅞ per cent., their rate for discounting similar paper being 1⅞ to 1¾ per cent. Business in short loans remains very quiet, 1 to 1¼ per cent. being accepted for money lent till Monday. There is no feature in any of the foreign exchanges, except the decline in the New York rate.

"The sum of 125,000 in gold was taken into the Bank of England, £48,000 being from the United States and £77,000 from North America. The Eider, from America, has arrived with £130,000 in specie; and the Galileo, from Buenos Aires, with £2,952. The Galicia, from Chili, has reached Lisbon with £27,000 in bar silver.

"The suspesion of Messrs. Grant and Ward, of New York, proves to be a very bad affair, and has resulted in the disclosure of some questionable transactions. Their liabilities are believed to reach $10,000,000. Strong sympathy is felt for General Grant, who losses heavily, and a movement has been begun by his financial friends to aid him."

Mr. Rufino Degreef, the well-known auctioneer, sold Friday the following lots of land situated in La Plata:—

We have received the following for publication:—

Arroyo Corto, May 31st, 1884

To the Editor of the Standard,

Gentlemen,

Would you kindly call the attention of the Chiefs of the Southern Railway to the block in the goods traffic on the Bahia Blanca extension. To our unofficial mind the remedy is very simple, viz:—to run a special goods train from La Gama out at least till the rush of business, consequent on the opening of the line, is over. The engine drivers, under the existing state of things, are the real managers of the railway and they drop and take on waggons when and where they please. The result of this is that it takes a waggon up to sixteen days to reach here from B. Aires; supposing it takes half that time to get back we can easily understand the 'no waggons' answer tendered by the railway officials to all complaints.

The train which left La Gama on the evening of the 16th dropped 14 loaded waggons at Curumalan most, if not all, of them consigned to the next station. Will the Standard believe it? They remained there nine days.

Yours truly,
A BULLOCKCARTMAN.

A Derangement of the Liver.
THE CAUSE OF DISEASE
IN THE
STOMACH, KIDNEYS, AND Nervous System.
Below will be found a brief summary of a Lecture upon the Liver, delivered before the Eclectic College of Medecine, by
Dr. J. Haydock
The Liver has been known as the great blood-maker and blood-purifier of the circulation. From its size and spongy structure, it plays a most important part in the animal economy, as regards assimilation and nutrition. Food taken in the mouth and acted upon by the digestive organs of the stomach is converted into Glucose and Peptone, and in these forms enters the Portal vein. Here, by the action of the Liver, these substances are converted into a form of sugar and pass out of the liver by a large vein, called the Hepatic vain, into the great circulation. The new material now formed serves two purposes: viz: the maintenance of heat in the body and assisting in the cell growth of the system.
Dr. Murchison says "The composition of bile and its secretion is very complex. It is constantly being secreted by the liver, and, increasing suddenly before eating, gradually decreases as soon as the appetite is satisfied and feeding ceases." Now, if this most important organ of the body becomes torpid, or the passage of bile interfered with, emaciation and disease ensue. I note eight marked peculiarities that now occur, and which we all know off:—
1. The patient complains of a feeling of weight and fullness of the stomach.
2. Distension of the bowels by wind.
3. Heartburn.
4. A feeling of weariness, pains in the limbs and great sleepiness after meals.
5. A bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, and furred tongue.
6. Constipation, with an occasional attack of diarrhœa.
7. Headache in front of head.
8. Depression of spirits and great melancholy, with lassitude and a disposition to leave everything for to-morrow.
All of the above symptoms go to show functional derangement of the liver; and now comes the great importance of any error made as to the condition of the patient. He should immediately provide himself with a Liver Stimulant, the most common form of which is a Pill. Daily experience shows that this, when the Pill is compounded properly, is the readiest mode of inciting and promoting the action of the Liver, and can be almost always relied on. I have devoted many years of my life, as many of you now before me know, to compounding a Pill that will act readily and systematically as a Bilious remedy. I do not believe in great purgatives, and therefore have made a Pill, one of which is an active and thorough dose. I have called it

Dr. Haydock's New Liver Pill
(SUGAR COATED)
One Pill is a Dose! One Pill is a Dose!

For all Diseases of the Kidneys, Retention of the Urine, Dr. Haydock's New Liver Pills are a perfect cure. One Pill will satisfy the most skeptical.
For Female Diseases, Nervous Prostration, Weakness, General Lassitude, Want of Appetite and Sick Headache, Dr. Haydock's New Liver Pills, will be found an Effectual Remedy.
They are universal in their effects, and a cure can almost always be guaranteed.
Each vial contains Twenty Pills. One Pill is a Dose. Price Twenty-five cents.
For sale by all Druggists.
Every Pill is Sugar-Coated. If your druggist does not keep them, we will mail them free to any address on receipt of 25 cents. Five vials for $1.00. Buy at once. Do not Deal.
CAUTION—To secure the genuine Haydock's Pills, observe that the signature of J. H. Francis, Agent for the United States, is written on every dozen package. Purchase none without this.
As Dr. Haydock's Liver Pills are entirely different from the 212 kinds now in the market any skeptic can have a sample bottle sent him free on receipt of his name and address.

EDITOR'S TABLE

We are indebted to the Antigua Libreria Inglesa 129 Calle Piedad, for London weekly papers to May 11th. These are the very latest in town. The same Firm has received Scotch and Irish papers to same date. Our old friends Dewey and Co. also favoured us with papers to same dates.

We find the following paragraphs in the "Flores Parish Magazine for June:—"It is with regret that we have to announce that the property on which the present Chapel stands has been sold, and the new owner requiring it for his own purposes, it will have to be vacated by the end of September. This regret will be felt by all, that a place of worship in which Services have been held regularly for more than 12 years should now have to be given over to secular purposes. But it is through no fault of the Trustees or Churchwardens. The property was offered to them, but at such an exorbitant price that they did not feel justified in recommending its purchase to the Congregation. However, the Vestry has taken the matter vigorously in hand, and several eligible sites have been seen, with a view to purchase. Directly a decision is now come to, a general meeting of the Congregation will be called and the plans submitted to their approval."

"The Right Reverend Dr. Stirling, Bishop of the Falklands, has made a lengthened visitation of the various Stations and Chaplaincies on the Rio Parana and Rio Uruguay. After holding a Confirmation at Montevideo, he intends leaving in the early part of the month for the Falklands, en route to the West Coast."

"The appointment to Rosario, vacant by the sad death of the Rev. F. N. Lett, has been filled up by the Committee of the South American Missionary Society."

Our esteemed colleague, the Anglo-Brazilian Times, makes the following amusing remarks anent the appearance of the Rio policeman at the London Sanitary Exhibition:—"At the London International Sanitary Exhibition, the Rio urbano is to be represented by his stuffed uniform only. But how can a stuffed dummy illustrate the degagé air with which our inimitable guardian of the public peace lounges around the street corners and ogles the mulatinhas, or his martial port as, sword in hand, he boldly faces some reeling Jack, breathing forth defiance and fumes of rum to all around! Impossible. As seven Botucudos were caught and sent to Europe to illustrate the civilization of our forests, so let a genuine urbano and his counterpart and enemy the capoeira be trapped, packed up carefully and forwarded to London to demonstrate the civilization of our cities."

A new songstress has appeared before the London public in the Imperial Theatre. Although wholly blind she sings with marvellous correctness and taste and has a fine voice. Sir Miguel Costa, director of the Covent Garden, and Lombardelli, the basso, are dead. Patti, Sembrich and La Scalchi were expected in London on the 6th ult.

It is scarcely necessary to inform our readers that to-night Frank Brown takes his benefit at the Politeama. We will, however, venture on a few remarks about the programme which is irresistible. The "beneficiado" begins by promising a great display of his inimitable jests and quips entirely new and warranted exhilarating. Then there is a genuine novelty in a young lady that does the "salto mortal" on horseback, to be followed by a decapitation scene, also a novelty. The programme holds forth in such alluring terms until the end, when the piece de resistance of the evening will be presented—a Bull fight. We think that with such a programme and his great popularity, Mr. Brown may fairly reckon on a big benefit.

A splendid silver mine was recently discovered in Catamarca in a very curious way. A woman was in custody for murder, and offered to disclose a valuable secret to whoever would give bail for her liberation. Two local capitalists went bail for her, and she told them that on the summit of a hill near her "rancho" there was a silver mine, a sample of the ore from which she showed them. The three started for the mine, but suspicion of the good faith of the woman assailed the capitalists on the way; they returned, and the woman was again lodged in jail. The woman then told the secret to a lawyer, who gave bail for her and started with her for the mine. There they found solid blocks of silver, and the lucky lawyer has flung briefs to the dogs and is now chairman of a company formed to work this wonderful mine. This side of the Andes will eventually be found far richer than the western in minerals, and there are probably hundreds of similar mines to that now so curiously discovered.

Half the members of the Progreso Club threaten to "cut the concern" if the proposal to abolish ball-giving be carried. There are very many members who never enter the Club except on ball nights.

Mr. Glaser, of the Cordoba Railway workshops, who was recently all but murdered up there, has obtained from Government six months leave of absence, with full salary, for a trip to Europe.

A colleague calculates that the population of this city is increasing at the rate of fifty thousand per annum, including ten per cent of the immigration, the births, and the number of well-to-do families that come from the camp and the provinces to settle in the metropolis. No wonder that house rent rises. The best investment here now is brick and mortar, and will be for years to come.

The Lord Mayor did not answer to the summons of the Corporators to appear before them on Monday night, so there was no fun. Alderman Robers moved that all proceedings against the Intendente be abandoned; as there was no legal way of compelling his Lordship to attend, the motion was carried. The Corporators seem to be blissfully ignorant that they are in a sublimely ridiculous position after all the row.

Another 50,000 Nats Capital Lottery will be drawn on July 8th, with 14,000 numbers and 1300 prizes.

Dysentery, Cholera Fever, Ague Coughs, Colds, &c.
Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne
(Ex Army Medical Staff)
IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than
Dr J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.
REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates health action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensive.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.
CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.
CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests too often fatal diseases Diphtheria Fever, Crup. Ague.
CHLORODYNE acts like a charming Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.
CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.
CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer Toothache, Meningites, &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemist, Medical Hall, Simla, Jan. 5th 1880. To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 22, Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London—"Dear Sir, we embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly-esteemed medicine, DR COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and, judging from their sale, we fancy their sojourn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances ad infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of DR. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE in Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as a general sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleratic Diarrhoea, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its surprisingly controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's is a deliberate breach of faith on the part of the chemist to prescriber and patient alike." We are, Sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellency the Viceroy's Chemists."

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all classes."

CAUTION—None genuine without the words "Dr J. Collis Browne on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Invaluable at the Diggings and in the Bush, also on board Ship, as small loaves of the best Bread or Scones can be made in a few minutes without the aid of Yeast.

Private Ward, during the Zulu war, writes:—"I should just like you to see the real farm-house bread that I bake! The oven is one dug in the ground, and is just large enough to hold our daily quantum of two loaves. We use flour, water, salt, and Borwick's Baking Powder. My bread often surprises me, it is so light, and white as snow. Some of our men will insist that I have been 'in the trade,' and nothing I can say will convince them to the contrary."
